DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Canada et al. (USPN 6,124,692).

With regards to claim 1, Canada et al. (USPN 6,124,692) teaches a sensor having a power input (figure 5) and an output for supplying a sensor output. (Col.7, lines 6-8) a controller (170;figure 5) including;

a power supply switch for switching on or off a supply of electrical power to said sensor power input; (160;figure 5) (Col. 2, lines 60-64) and a control circuit for receiving and processing said sensor output and for turning off said power-supply switch in response to said control circuit accepting said sensor output from said sensor (Col. 2, lines 60-67)

With regards to claim 4, Canada et al. (USPN 6,124,692) teaches wherein said controller enters a standby state of low power consumption in response to an end of said processing of said sensor output. (Col. 3, lines 60-63)

Claim Objections

Claims 2-3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Regarding claims 5 and 14:

The primary reason for the allowance of claim 5 is the inclusion of: control circuit for detecting completion of reception of sensor module output and turning off the sensor module power supply switch in response to the detection of completion of reception. It is this feature found in the claim, as it is claimed in the combination that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record, which makes this claim allowable over the prior art.

The primary reason for the allowance of claim 14 is the inclusion of the data line switch controlling power to a data line receiving sensor module output in response to receiving output signal. It is this feature found in the claim, as it is claimed in the combination that has not been found, taught or suggested by the prior art of record, which makes this claim allowable over the prior art.

Claims 6-13 are allowed due to their dependency on claim 5.

Claims 15-20 are allowed due to their dependency on claim 14.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. French et al. (USPN 6,125,972) teaches a security apparatus and method for shopping carts and the like.

During patent examination, the pending claims must be "given the broadest reasonable interpretation consistent with the specification." Applicant always has the opportunity to amend the claims during prosecution, and broad interpretation by the examiner reduces the possibility that the claim, once issued, will be interpreted more broadly than is justified. In re Prater, 415 F.2d 1393, 1404-05, 162 USPQ 541, 550-51 (CCPA 1969).

While the meaning of claims of issued patents are interpreted in light of the specification, prosecution history, prior art and other claims, this is not the mode of claim interpretation to be applied during examination. During examination, the claims must be interpreted as broadly as their terms reasonably allowed. This means that the words of the claim must be given their plain meaning unless applicant has provided a clear definition in the specification. In re Zletz, 893 F.2d 319, 321, 13 USPQ2d 1320, 1322 (Fed. Cir. 1989).

Although the Canada et al. reference is not a camera apparatus the claimed invention is broad enough to be rejected in light of this reference, therefore the rejection is deemed proper. The Canada et al. reference has every element of claim 1.
